Guest Trainer: Dr Adi Setia (PhD) studied in traditional madrasahs then went on to study under the world renowned Islamic scholar and intellectual Professor Dr. Syed Muhammad Naquib al-Attas. He is currently a lecturer and assistant professor of history and philosophy of science at the International Islamic University Malaysia (IIUM). His research interests are in, amongst others, history and philosophy of science, Islamic Science, and in the operationalization of the Islamization of both the natural and social sciences.

The field of Waqf or Islamic Trusts/ Endowments is growing exponentially and requires professional advocacy, support, and management. Individuals, families, organisations, and institutions are being encouraged to establish endowments. It is imperative that knowledge and skills around Waqf be made available to all those interested in its theory and application within Muslim and other faith communities especially in the Southern African region.

Theme: Establishing & Developing Organisational, Institutional and Family Awqaf

Aims and Objectives:

- ❖ Familiarizing participants with the concepts and their application in Waqf management.
- ❖ Establishing leadership skills in founding and managing Awqaf
- ❖ Strengthening networks between participants to establish and promote relations between them and their organisations and communities.
- ❖ To empower participants in the advocacy, establishment, and development of Waqf and Awqaf.

Who should attend:

- ❖ Legal & Accounting firms and professionals; Ulama; Islamic Financial Institutions; Managers/ Leaders of Islamic Charitable Organisations and Trusts; Managers/Leaders of Masjid & Madressah Institutions; Managers/ Leaders of Islamic Schools; Individual and Family Trusts; Asset managers; Graduates in Economics, Business Administration, Finance, Engineering, Law, Shariah or equivalent
- ❖ Community workers experienced in the above fields
